      - Efe was a standout CSR at IGNITE - personable, team-oriented, and deeply dedicated. He brought a big personality paired with a calm, quiet energy that made both customers and teammates feel at ease. A true team player with a natural ability to connect and uplift, Efe would be an asset to any organization.Efe was a standout CSR at IGNITE - personable, team-oriented, and deeply dedicated.       - Working with Efe at the IGNITE Student Union has been a rewarding experience. As a Customer Service Representatives, I've seen how Efe's friendly nature and willingness to help colleagues, whether with personal or work-related matters, make him a key part of our team.

Efe's professionalism is evident, especially in challenging situations. His ability to handle difficulties with grace and composure is impressive and shows his commitment to his role.

Dependable and passionate, Efe's dedication to his work is clear in every task he takes on. His enthusiasm and reliability ensure that he consistently delivers high-quality results. I highly recommend Efe for future opportunities and am confident that he will be a valuable asset to any team.Working with Efe at the IGNITE Student Union has been a rewarding experience.     - Efe has been an invaluable part of IGNITE's Customer Service Representative team. Efe always goes above and beyond to ensure our customers receive top-tier service. His ability to handle challenging situations with grace, patience, and a positive attitude has made a significant impact on our overall customer satisfaction. Whether it’s answering inquiries, resolving issues, or providing guidance, He consistently shows a deep understanding of our services and a commitment to resolving customer concerns efficiently.

      I have no doubt that Efe would be an asset to any team or company. They have proven themselves to be dedicated, reliable, and an excellent

    - Efe is an experienced and skilled researcher and data analyst, implementing qualitative and quantitative methods and working proficiently in the realms of human rights and humanitarian-focused research. I had the pleasure of working with Efe through his work with FLIP Foundation undertaking literature review and data analysis on equity-focused patterns in arts leadership in Canada. Efe was thorough and effective in leading the research process with clarity of desired outcome and methods to arrive at a final research paper and accompanying infographics. If you are looking for someone with a broad research, database management, IT and project management skillset, Efe would be a wonderful asset to any team.Efe is an experienced and skilled researcher and data analyst, implementing qualitative and quantitative methods and working proficiently in the realms of human rights and humanitarian-focused research.       - It's my pleasure to highly recommend Efe who was my student in the Research Analyst Program at Humber College, Toronto, Canada. Indeed, Efe has the knowledge and experience in professionalism and ethics in designing and conducting studies and surveys, philosophical frameworks and critical analysis of big data and results in research, using new technologies used in the research analysis field, performing big data visualization, dashboard development, and trend analysis, creation of research deliverables, writing professional reports, proposals and grant writing, project management, and performing research analysis and analytics using strategic planning tools including the PESTEL analysis framework to assess political, economic, social, technological, environmental, and legal factors used by management teams and boards for strategic planning processes and enterprise risk management planning.
